JOHN K. GALBRAITH WILL BE
SECOND MANSFIELD LECTURER

MISSOULA---

John Kenneth Galbraith, economist, author and man of many skills, will present the second of the Mansfield Lectures at the University of Montana April 3, 1969.

Galbraith, author of eight well known non-fiction books and ambassador to India during the Kennedy administration, will be on the Missoula campus April 3 and 4, during which time he will hold several meetings with students and UM faculty and staff.

The Mansfield Lectures on International relations were begun last year under the Mike and Maureen Endowment of the UM Foundation. Sen. Mansfield, a UM alumnus and professor on leave, came to the campus last spring and delivered the first lecture of the series.

In addition to his ambassadorship, Galbraith has also been active in party politics, acting as chairman of the economic advisory committee of the Democratic Advisory Council from 1956-1960 and as a member of Adlai Stevenson's campaign staff in 1952 and 1956.

He is currently Chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, in addition to his position as Paul M. Warburg professor of economics at Harvard University.

He was born in 1908 in Ontario, Canada. He and his wife Catherine live in Cambridge, Mass. They have three sons.
